The Timothy Plan Family of Mutual Funds Applauds Exxon-Mobil on Their Move to Restore Sanity to Corporate Benefit Programs

Winter Park, FL (December 08, 1999) - The Timothy Plan, America's morally responsible family of mutual funds, applauds Exxon-Mobil's decision to restore some semblance of sanity to their corporate benefits program through their decision to eliminate "domestic partner health-care benefits."

Art Ally, Timothy Plan president, states, "From both an economic and a moral perspective, the practice of offering such benefits is bad business. Economically, health insurance costs are soaring across the board. We believe companies that choose to add coverage for such a high-risk (AIDS) activity are flirting with economic disaster. If the exorbitant cost that is sure to come from future claims doesn't bury these companies, potential lawsuits from shareholders upset with the negative impact on earnings could."

Ally continues, "The moral side of the issue is even more compelling. America is on the precipice of moral collapse. Our heretofore strong Judeo-Christian foundation has all but disintegrated. The tremendous impact the homosexual lobby has had on both corporate and public policy has been phenomenal while those of us who claim to still have strong Judeo-Christian values have been 'fiddling while Rome has been burning'."

The Timothy Plan is a family of mutual funds that refuses to invest their shareholders' money in companies that are contributing to our society's moral decline through their funding or other involvement in abortion, pornography, or promotion of the homosexual agenda as well as the production of alcohol, tobacco, or casino gambling.

"We want to make it clear that we are not homophobes -- as the homosexual lobby likes to brand anyone that disagrees with their agenda" Ally shares. "God created and loves the practicing homosexual just like He created and loves me. Jesus died on the cross for the homosexual just like he died on the cross for me. He does not hate the homosexual and neither do I; He simply does not like their behavior."

Timothy is pleased to stand with Exxon on this issue and encourage all Americans who feel the same to communicate their support to Exxon:
